

Practice Program at Loxon Solutions

Company Description:

Loxon is a software company offering integrated lending and risk management solutions for the financial services industry. Loxon is dedicated to serve banks and leasing companies with the most complete software suite covering the entire lending and risk management lifecycle. Moreover, Loxon offers portfolio-based risk management solutions for credit, market and operational risk. The company provides high standard consulting and development capacity for successful implementation projects and wide business knowledge in the field of risk management. The core value of the company is the strong capability of business and technology innovation. Risk experts and experienced bank executives jointly work on the improvement of the product suite and extend the functionalities with step-forward attitude. The product development team apply state-of-the-art risk management practices combined with technology leader approach.

Program details:

- We are looking for 2 analytical mind students from last year undergraduate or master programs of Faculty of Finance, Insurance, Banking and Stock Exchange, The Bucharest University of Economic Studies – ASE;
- 3 months practice program with the possibility of an extension to internship or job;
- Working program is established by the parties at the beginning of the partnership.

Responsibilities:

- Gather, document and analyze requirements for a project;
- Close collaboration with functional process owners, technical experts, testing teams etc;
- Detail design of the solution including: functional specification (case studies, interfaces, workflows);
- Interact with customers and properly identify project requirements.

Requirements:

- University degree in a finance-related subject or last year undergraduate students;
- Basic knowledge of SQL;
- Analytical mind – very good experience in analyzing and documenting requirements is a plus;
- Business domain knowledge of the banking sector;
- Very good verbal and written communication in both English and Romanian language.

Opportunities:

- Opportunities for training;
- Team-building activities;
- Working in a friendly environment;
- Connect the theoretical aspects learned at faculty with business domain.

Contact:

<http://www.loxon.ro/>

Gabriel Serbanescu

E-mail: gabriel.serbanescu@loxon.ro